

ENGAGING GOVERNMENTS IN PEER KNOWLEDGE EXCHANGE

CONSERVATION
INTERNATIONAL

Rowan Braybrook

GOVERNANCE FOR IMPLEMENTATION

- Looking at the nexus of governance, mainstreaming, landscapes, and capacity building
- Examples and lessons on how to make governance effective and inspire implementation
- How can we make 'landscapes' and 'mainstreaming' tangible?

KNOWLEDGE EXCHANGE

- From global to national, from policy to action
- Exchanges as catalyst
- Knowledge exchanges give policy makers direct experience of how policies interact at the landscape level

SOUTH-SOUTH EXCHANGES

- Discuss innovative policies, partnerships and institutional structures
- See both process and impact of effective implementation
- Interact with political landscape as well as physical – meet political leaders and those impacted in the landscape.

WHY EXCHANGES?

- Flexibility of model to address many topics that lead to multiple policy outcomes
- Participants able to directly interact with their peers
- Inspiring and tangible

AN EFFECTIVE EXCHANGE

Not all exchanges are created equal. Effective exchanges include:

- Country commitments to international accords
- Countries share similar ecosystems and environmental and social challenges
- Specific objectives (identified need for action)
- Diverse participants in roles where they can spark change
- Resources to support follow up actions

THANK YOU

