

2010 International Year of Biodiversity

In the UAE – we are part of Arabian Gulf and the Gulf of Oman coastline. Towards Hatta –we experience a desert environment – we have the beach and the desert!

Biodiversity refers to the variety of plants and animals and all living organisms which occur in the natural environment and form a part of our natural ecosystem.

There are many birds which are found in the municipal parks of Dubai like the Alexandrine parrot and Black crows.

Along the coastline there have been reported sightings of Dolphins, Whale Sharks and Green Turtles!

Date palm trees are plentiful as well as Ghaf trees, Neem trees and Farfar trees.

The best way to explore the UAE is with our eyes! You can take a picture, by doing so you would not disturb the living organism.

We are natural observers of the environment not harmful visitors that damage it.
