

Bahrain launches the International year of Biodiversity 2010

The Kingdom of Bahrain officially launched the celebrations of the International year of Biodiversity 2010 by announcing on 7 January 2010 during the opening ceremony of a National Park within Arad Bay Marine protected Area.

The park comprises a walkway and entertainment facilities and it aims to attract the local residents and ecosystem service and their importance to sustain their lives.

As part of the International year of Biodiversity celebrations, Bahrain intends to organize various activities targeted at different spectra of the Bahraini society (e.g. ministries, industries, NGOs, academia, media & local people) as outlined in the provisional plan.

بِسْمِ اللَّهِ
هَذَا مِنْ فَضْلِ
الْمَلِكِ مُحَمَّدِ بْنِ
عَلِيٍّ
مَلِكِ مَمْلَكَةِ الْبَحْرَيْنِ
تَفَضَّلَ
