Cocoa Trade Negotiations

FEEDAR & HR an Organization borne from Cocoa and Coffee peasants farmers in Cameroon remains committed to leverage concerns and resources to better the lives of millions of people depending entirely on the crop and trade for their sustainability.

Cocoa production has remained a traditional and cultural crop bringing in generation of families into the cultivation, who inherit estates of the farms. Unfortunately these peasant farmers still face serious cultivation and marketing problems not being able to compromise with the challenges of poverty and hunger, food security, child labour, childhood education and other social issues.

Pushing forward towards a sustainable production and cultivation of Cocoa crop while negotiating a better market- resource based approach will contribute to the sustainability of the forests, environment and the people. The responsibilities of the trade policy will be handled independently by FEEDAR & HR Co-operative and Micro credit unit.
